RESIDENT and FELLOW BENEFITS 2019-2020

Vacation
Residents/Fellows are allowed three weeks of vacation, including days during the Christmas/New Year’s season, given approval of the Program Director and coverage for patients. A vacation week should include five work days plus at least one weekend before or after the week off. Some programs might offer additional vacation, especially at the senior level, given board certification requirements. Residents/Fellows may not be paid for unused vacation at the end of each year.

Sick Leave
Residents/Fellows are allowed up to 21 sick days per year; three working weeks (15 weekdays) with six additional weekend days. However, these cannot be carried over from year to year. The Program Director may request a physician’s statement for periods of sick leave. Residents/Fellows may not be paid for unused sick leave at the end of the year.

Parental Leave
Parental leave is available for the birth or adoption of a child or foster care placement, per state and federal FMLA provisions for trainees employed for 12 months or more. All available sick and vacation days up to a maximum of 6 paid weeks duration may be used. With prior approval, additional unpaid maternity leave may be granted by the Program Director. Extended leave due to complications may be covered under the Resident’s/Fellow’s disability policy after the 90 day waiting period. For trainees not employed for 12 months, mothers may be granted all paid leave available and additional leave at the discretion of the Program Director. For a parent Resident/Fellow other than the birth mother, they may use paid sick leave to take 7 consecutive calendar days to assist with parental duties commencing with the birth of the child. Additional paid time may be taken using any available annual leave. With prior approval, additional unpaid leave may be granted by the Program Director. Specific board eligibility requirements may limit the amount of leave the Resident/Fellow can take without extending training.

Immunity from Professional Liability
As employees of the State of Tennessee, Residents/Fellows are protected against suits for malpractice via the Tennessee Claims Commission Act. They have immunity from professional liability. The State is self-insured so there is no insurance carrier; however, coverage is similar to that of a standard malpractice insurance policy.

Health, Dental & Vision Insurance
The University of Tennessee provides health, hospitalization, dental and vision insurance coverage for Residents/Fellows. The University pays a large percentage of monthly premiums. Residents/Fellows may elect Individual, Employee and Spouse, Employee and Children, or Family Coverage, depending upon the family situation.

Disability Insurance
The University provides long-term disability insurance coverage. Actual premiums vary depending upon the trainee’s birthdate. Currently, the basic policy guarantees tax-free, monthly income of $1,500 after a three-month waiting period is met. Residents/Fellows can elect additional income guarantee amounts ($2,500, $4,000, or $5,000 per month) with higher premiums. To offset the cost of the basic long-term disability coverage ($1,500 per month), the University adds $55 each month to the base approved stipend scale. This $55 is also intended to offset the cost of basic life insurance (below) program in which each Resident/Fellow must participate. Residents/Fellows cannot drop basic LTD coverage.
Life Insurance  A basic life insurance policy is also provided as part of the resident/faculty insurance package. The current policy provides a $100,000 benefit ($4.40 per month premiums).

Call Quarters  Although living quarters are not provided for Residents/Fellows, Erlanger provides call quarters, lounge facilities stocked with refreshments in the evenings, and lockers.

Professional Development  Departments have some funds available for professional development (e.g., educational books, travel for external conferences, electronic CME materials, USMLE Step 3 fee, and professional/specialty memberships) at the discretion of the Chair and Program Director. Opportunities are available for research, patient, and quality improvement. Annual reimbursement amounts may vary by department and PGY levels.
